PREFACE.

Is attempting by the publication of the following pages to supply a deficiency which has long been felt to exist, it is perhaps necessary to say a few words as to the means adopted to ensure all practicable precision in the orthography of names, as well as accuracy of distances and information.

A fixed orthography of names, excepting such as are historically established, must be acknowledged to be unattainable. It is one of those things on which each person judges for himself, and honestly thinks that his own mode of representing a sound is nearest to the truth;—for whether he knows the word in the Native language or not, he is unwilling to admit that his own hearing of it at any rate, is less precise than another's; though that other may be able to write the word in the Native character. And even if two persons acquainted with the original word, be requested to write the sound in English, the coincidence would be wonderful to find them use identical letters. The reason is obvious—no two individuals agree as to the exact power of the letters; and there is no mode of making them agree unless we are able to persuade them to undertake the hopeless task of learning a new alphabet, which shall fix the power of every literal sound in all languages by new symbols. With this view GILCHRIST and others attempted to introduce a universal alphabet, and of course failed; not because the scheme is in itself altogether impossible, but because people will not take the trouble to learn so little, for so limited a purpose.

But besides this difficulty, there are several others which render uniformity of orthography unattainable. We have to contend with the unwriteable sounds of the numerous dialects prevalent in the Peninsula; with a variety of tribes, generally illiterate, speaking those dialects; with the Mussulman speaking Tamul; the Tamulian, Telogoo; the Mahratta, Canarese, &c., or each speaking all. Then we have abbreviation of names as Tipsoondrum for Tippasamoodrum; and intermutations of letters, as v for b; s for sh; g for k; j for z or ch, &c. There are also translations of names as, the Tamul word Wunādoorgum into the Hindustani, Dhobigurh, (anglice Fort Washer-man); all of which though perfectly legitimate are discerned only by the linguist. The majority consider such idiocrasies pure blunders, and would complacently correct them, forgetting that the analogy of Western languages is not dissimilar. We do not quarrel with a Frenchman for calling London Londres, or for translating England into Angleterre. We are all content to call that Madras, which originally is Mundir-raj, or abbreviated, Mundraj. We mangle Is-hākputnum into Vizagapatam, Tullungumbaddy into Tranquebar, Sri-rungaputnum into Seringapatam, and assent to a host of other established errors, without a murmur: for places of lesser note we need hardly be more jealous.

It were a thing much to be desired that right or wrong some standard should be acknowledged; and the authority to whom we should be best disposed to bow is the Survey Department; because being actually present at each place noted in the survey, and coming in contact with its inhabitants, the Surveyors are most likely to be correct. But here we have unfortunately no such guarantee for accuracy, as to induce us to accept their orthography unconditionally; for except a Surveyor be also to some extent a Philologist, we may be certain that his orthography will be just as fantastic as his neighbours.

Under present circumstances then we must be satisfied with such orthography or rather cacography, as suffices to indicate approximately the sound each individual considers to be true; and when he has by our assistance been brought to find the place he wants, he is of course at liberty to write and pronounce it as he pleases; only let him not denounce us for ignorance if we differ, especially as erroneous typography may occasionally belie us. No pains have been spared to attempt accuracy, though it is not presumed that it has been achieved; on the contrary it is certain that numerous real defects will be discovered.

The mode adopted to prevent error was as follows—the Original Field Books in Tamul or Telogoo, constructed by the valuable little Corps of Guides and Surveyors attached to the Quarter Master General's Department, have been read to the Compiler by the senior of that body, and the most scrupulous care has been taken both to have the names accurately pronounced, as well as to represent the sounds as closely and naturally as possible in the English character. To ensure accuracy on the part of the Surveyors themselves, inhabitants of the countries traversed, have been employed as their guides and informers. Many of the Routes are taken from English Field Books, framed by Officers of the Department, and the orthography of these has been followed, because their information generally was preferred. Whatever has been borrowed from Bengal or Bombay authorities has been acknowledged.

And in regard to distances a difference of opinion may also exist. The distance between two places as travelled or measured by two different persons, may disagree by some miles, and yet both be true; for except they agree to start from, and arrive at the same point, this must be the case, especially between large places. The rule observed on the present occasion has been generally to indicate in the Table the points of departure and of arrival; and when such are not mentioned, from centre to centre must be understood. Between places unconnected by a made road there may be two or more tracks, either of which may be used according to the season, or the choice of the Guide. The tracks adopted in compiling the Routes following are those which local Authorities have pointed out to the Surveyors as the best. Again, the actual distance between stages as it appears to troops or travellers may seem to differ from that herein recorded—but it must be remembered that the latter is necessarily the distance from village to village, not from one encamping ground to another: and as the ground is sometimes distant from the village, the distances of the Military stages will vary accordingly.

Of the general trustworthiness of the measurements of the Guides there is ample and independent proof: and on the accuracy of distances of uncombined Routes reliance may be placed. It will however happen occasionally, that in cases where Routes are found in the book combined, that is, composed of several numbers, slight discrepancies may exist between the actual and recorded distance of the first and last stages; but this is inseparable from the nature of the combination, the point of arrival and departure being perhaps various in the original surveys. These remarks are made to anticipate objections, which judging by the past, may again be made to distances given on authority.

Under the head of information may be found brief notices on the following subjects:

- Size of Town and Villages.
- Supplies.
- Water.
- Position of Encamping Grounds.
- Passage, &c. of Rivers.
- Condition of Ghauts.
- Slope of Ghauts.
- General features of the Country.
- Roads.
- Soil.

Bungalows.

Stages.

Post or Tappal Offices.

Civil and Military limits.

The materials from whence the above has been derived are the latest available. The experience of marching Regiments for the last twenty years as recorded in their Progress Reports has been condensed, and a vast amount of topographical intelligence accumulating in the Quarter Master General's Office for the last seventy years has been diligently sifted and arranged. Approximation to truth is all that has been attempted or that can be expected; for authorities are just as contradictory in this as in other respects. To reconcile them would in most cases be vain. Sixteen thousand miles of road newly made or untraversed, have been surveyed expressly for this work. Tracts never before penetrated have been visited and reported on by the Guides; and in short nothing that labor could effect has been withheld to make the information correct.

The original design was to circulate each draft to the various Authorities through whose limits the Route passed, with a view to the correction of errors and the acquisition of additional information: but it was found that such a length of time elapsed between the despatch of the draft and its return and the accumulation of documents increased to such an extent, that to have subjected the whole work to that process would have been to postpone its publication indefinitely. In some instances the drafts were two years in circulation, and in a few they were never returned at all—the intention was therefore abandoned: but the loss has been partly compensated for by requiring from marching Regiments a more detailed report of progress than they had hitherto been accustomed to furnish.

The publication of the Work has been delayed far beyond the time originally contemplated. The subject grew as it was approached, and had it been necessary double the number of Routes might have been easily given. Since it was commenced the Saugor Division has been permanently added to the Military limits of this Presidency, which has entailed the necessity of having its Roads surveyed. While the Press has been engaged, additions and alterations have been made which it is impossible to notice at present.

The size of a village being in general an index to its capability of furnishing supplies, the number of houses is frequently all that is noticed: but as

Troops never march without their anticipated progress being notified to the Authorities concerned, the omission of specific mention of supplies will not be felt. The nature of the soil or features of the Country being stated, the quality of the Road may usually be predicated with tolerable precision; thus—if the soil is black, it may safely be said that the Road is good in dry weather only—and as a general rule it is to be understood, that the condition of a Road as detailed in this Work, is descriptive of its state in marching seasons only. When it is stated that there is ground for a Corps it means an Infantry Corps; but the position of the best ground will of course vary according to the time of the year it is required. Care has been taken to make the Stages of a moderate length, so as that Troops may not be harassed. Occasionally however a long march is unavoidable from want of water, or other sufficient cause at any shorter interval. Troops suffering from disease and needing a daily change of ground will find the intermediate Stages given (indicated by italics) a convenience: though it should not be forgotten that whenever a change of Route or Division of Stages, other than that furnished, is made, timely notice should be given to the Civil Authorities that supplies may be provided accordingly.* The Revenue Board has obligingly supplied information about Bungalows, and the Post Master General has been at pains to furnish correct information in his Department.

The warmest acknowledgments are due to the following Officers who have shrunk from no labor to afford the information requested of them.

Lieut.-General Fraser, Resident at Hyderabad.

Lieut.-General Cubbon, Commissioner in Mysore.

Lieut.-General Cullen, Resident at Travancore.

Captain Best, (the late) Engineers, Superintendent of Roads.

Captain Ramsay, Assistant Resident at Nagpoor.

Captain Allan, Dy. Asst. Qr. Mr. General, Southern Division.

Captain Jenkins, Dy. Asst. Qr. Mr. General, Saugor Division.

And it is only doing justice to an old servant of Government, Chief Guide Narniah, to mention that his patience and diligence have been unremitting, and his assistance invaluable.

* Vide General Regulation.

The next Edition will no doubt be far more complete and accurate in all its parts than this could be expected to be, and all who are in a position to give bond fide information, are invited to communicate with the Compiler.

Besides the Map which accompanies this Volume, a large one embracing the same extent of Country has been prepared, and is now on the point of being sent to England to be engraved. It exhibits the features of the Country, every Road, Bungalow, Tappal Station, Stage, Civil District and Military Division besides the Barometric Elevations referred to in the Road Book. The Grand Trigonometrical Survey of India published and unpublished has been reduced; the latter sheets having, by the permission of the Supreme Government been furnished by Captain Thuillier, Deputy Surveyor General of India. Old records deposited in the Qr. Mr. General's Office of unsurveyed or little known regions have been made use of, and all that the Guides have lately done which is new, has been worked into it. It may therefore be said to contain, so far as space admits all the latest information extant; and though it is primarily a Military Map, its utility will be general to all classes. It may be used as a Companion to the Road Book, though it is independent of it, and will be published separately.

MADRAS, February 1853.

* Bishop Spencer says of these Falls that they are more sublime than any thing he had ever seen in Switzerland or elsewhere. The four Falls are called, the Great Fall, the Roarer, the Rocket, and the Dame Blanche. The water leaps from the first from a height of 800 feet measured by line, in a considerable volume. The pool at the foot of the Fall is 350 feet deep, also measured by line. There being nothing to break the view into the abyss, the sight is terrific. The water in the Roarer rushes in great volume over an inclined plane into a cavern or cup, which turns it into the bed below. The name given to the third is very appropriate. Seen from the Canara side it looks like watery powder; it continually shoots itself out from the rocks which break its fall, into hundreds of water rockets which burst and pass away just like the fire work of that name. The Dame Blanche comes down like liquid silk, or like a stream of elder-down feathers if such things could be. It is a lovely fall, but from the platform above appears quite gentle in comparison with the others. The entire chasm of the Falls is tenanted by innumerable pigeons and swallows. It is worth while to descend into it—a man seen from above seems a mere pigmy. Three of the four Falls descend in front of you, and the chasm is partially lighted by a beautiful rainbow rising up as the sun declines. Tigers are not unknown in the jungle around the Falls.

† Hence to Honore there is water communication, distance about 21 miles.

The climate is cool, invigorating and healthful, and during the hot season especially is found most congenial to the European constitution: while at Bellary in March, April, and May, the thermometer ranges from 96° to 100° in the shade, here it never exceeds 84° in a house. The mornings and evenings are always cool and delightful and generally throughout the year the climate is cooler by 12° or 14° than at Bellary. There is a tank near to and below the Droog and there are several strong springs of beautiful water. Nearly the entire encircling of the plateau is defended by a wall, and the surface is undulating. N. B.—This is the road to be taken from December to the end of March, when the Jungles by the shorter road via Trichoor are considered feverish. The steps necessary to be taken by a traveller proceeding by this route are as follows. Apply to the fiscal at Cochin for Cabin boat with 8 or 10 rowers, in which if the traveller start at 5 P. M. he will usually arrive at Chaitwa distant about 50 miles by 5 or 6 A. M. the next day. Here he will find a bungalow and a set of bearers (to be applied for some days previously to the Collector of Malabar) they convey him to Tirtallay 21½ miles, where there is a good bungalow. At this place a fresh set of bearers should be posted, if travelling dak to Paulghauthcherry, otherwise he can proceed by two easy stages by Luckricotah bungalow, and thence to Paulghauthcherry.

N. B.—During the Monsoon, from June to October, travellers can proceed at once from Cochin to Trichoor by water in the usual Cabin boat. The landing place being within $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile of the Town. A set of bearers should be in readiness at Trichoor (to be applied for to the Dewan of Cochin) and it is usual for travellers to start on their journey hence about daylight, as the bearers do not like passing through the jungle at night at the risk of meeting wild Elephants which abound in these parts, and are very troublesome. Leaving Trichoor at 4 A. M., the traveller will reach Warkuncherry bungalow (21 miles distant) between 11 and 12 o'clock, and the same bearers will after a short halt here carry him on to Paulghaut by daybreak next morning.

* Between Cuddapah and Nellore there is a shorter route thus: SIDROUT—5 10-24—KOTAPAUD 11-3. Tope and well near YEPPERAI 11-3. OOPULPAUD 8-4; and so on as above. But the road is a very bad one at present, totally impracticable for Cart traffic. It passes between hills and frequently crosses the Pennaur river. It is in contemplation to put it in good order.

Path passes under the left side of a remarkable sharp peak in the hills N. of Lecar through a stony pass at the N. end of which is a steep slope of 100 to 150 yards. The rise from the S. is very gradual. The path might easily be made practicable for carts. Country trucks pass along it. From Dongksore the country is open and cultivated. Karceall is the Capital of the Zameendarry of that name. Water and ground good—supplies to a small extent to be had—supplies are procured from Chehteesghur on notice being given to the G. G. Agent at Chota Nagpoor. The jungles of this district are infested with a variety of wild beasts including Tigers.

Officer Commanding Nagpore Subsidiary Force—Kamptee. Resident at Nagpore.		Cross a nullah to							Country covered with tree jungle and long grass. Road smooth all the way. Round Nurrah the country is open and partially cultivated. A good Tope West of village between 2 tanks. Supplies to a small amount to be had here, but abundant on notice being given to the Resident. The ruins of a brick and stone Fort N. of village. The Jung has sandy banks and bed with water a foot deep in January, and is the boundary of Orissa. A patch of paddy cultivation here with good water from a nullah and a space for a Camp. Tree jungle and long grass. Nullahs all easy to pass. Supplies provided on notice being given. Ground and water excellent. Village inhabited by Potters affording an excellent opportunity of obtaining a fresh supply of their manufactures. Supplies as above—none of the nullahs are difficult to cross. Path good—a swelling rise is passed when the road is gravelly and here and there rocky, but no impediment to cattle. Cultivation near the village to some extent. High and clear ground. Good water from a tank. Supplies are easily collected from the neighbourhood. Road good and broad, passable for carts—rather rough over the cultivated parts, skirting jungle. A market is held at Khurtee every Saturday. The Kessoah has one foot of water in it in January. A very extensive town consisting of 100 houses. Supplies of every kind. W. of the place is good ground. E. is all cultivated. Road good and broad through jungle and cultivation to Mahasumooda where there is good ground and water. The road quits the jungle and enters a highly cultivated tract. Ground extensive and excellent. Water good from a tank. Supplies in plenty from Arinj or Ryepoor which is in sight to the West. Road a broad cart track, over an undulating plain—rough when over paddy land. Excellent ground all the year, W. and S. of the town, sufficient for several Corps, soil hard and red. Water from numerous tanks. Broad road over open plains. Supplies abundant and very cheap. This place is the Capital of Chah-teeghur.

N. B. This Road is practicable during the dry season, and supplies can be collected with facility on every portion of it—previous notice being given. The road generally speaking is very tolerable, and except near Ariaj and Khummeresa, the jungle is not very heavy, nor is it considered unhealthy. It is very seldom travelled by Europeans. These remarks apply to the Nagpoor portion of the route alone.

Looner, a Knebah town in Lat. $19^{\circ} 50' 15''$ North, and Long. $75^{\circ} 33' 37''$ East, bears evident traces of having once been a place of some size and importance, but it is at present (in 1840) greatly reduced and owes what little celebrity it retains, to a remarkable Salt lake in its immediate vicinity. This singular chasm is of a circular form and nearly 5 miles in circumference. At the upper margin, it appears to have been formed by the subsidence of the whole area within the limits above mentioned, to the depth of about 500 feet below the general level of the surrounding country; and with the exception of a deep and broad ravine through which a small stream flows into the lake from the Northward, its exterior margin is tolerably regular and well defined, but slightly elevated, as if by some explosive power,—shutting out the view of the lake when approached from the surrounding country, until the very crest of the precipitous escarpment is reached, when this vast natural basin with its deeply seated lake and wild forest scenery bursts at once upon the view. By Dr. Malcolmson and other Geologists it has been considered to be the Crater, of an extinct Volcano, but no traces of Lava, Scoria, or other Volcanic products are now to be met with unless the basaltic Rock by which it is enclosed and which is the prevailing Rock in this part of the Deccan, can be considered such. The sides of the basin or Crater are very precipitous and are covered with low brushwood, and long grass with dense jungle in the ravines, harbouring numerous Tigers and other animals. The bed of the lake which is bordered by a thick grove of Palmira and Tamarind trees is composed of mud strongly impregnated with muriate of Soda with a small admixture of Carbonate and Sulphate of Soda. The water of the lake covers a circular area of about 3 miles in circumference during the prevalence of the monsoon, but scarcely one half of that extent in the hot months. The salt which forms in layers under the mud in the bed and margin of the lake is collected with the aid of a dredging machine of the rudest description, towards the end of the hot season when the depth of the water seldom exceeds three feet in any part, though salt is much used in the manufacture of an inferior kind of soap, glass bangles, and for the making and dyeing of chintzes and other cloths, and is exported in considerable quantities to the surrounding districts. The water of the principal stream which enters the lake from the Northward is perfectly sweet and pleasant to the taste, and several wells and springs of fresh and wholesome water are to be found around the margin and below the level of the water of the lake; though that of the lake itself is intensely noxious and unwholesome exhalations of the valley, and say that they are seldom able to remain more than two or three weeks without ascending for change of air.

Numerous large native boats obtainable from the city of Hoshungabad to cross in. As far as the river Ghaut, good road, flat country and cotton soil. After crossing the river, the first 2 miles of road indifferent. Jungly country with a little cultivation. Cotton soil. You here pass close along by the bottom of the hills for a short way. The distance between the hills and the road increases until at Cheechally, they are about 3 miles off. Bandies must cross the river in boats, the river being rarely fordable by them. There are 3 Ghauts leading from the city, viz. the Raj, the Sirhee and the Koriee, the first is most used when going towards Bhilsa, but only by carts. Cheechally is a rather large village on the banks of the Nerbudda. All the country round about appears to be cultivated. Not sufficient ground for even 1 Corps to encamp on comfortably near the village during cultivation season. 2 or 3 Corps might encamp near the village on the West side, when the crops are off the ground. Military.	Niggara.....	1	6					At starting from Pertabgurb, there is a large nullah with steep banks and sandy bottom, quickly runs down after rain in the monsoon. Country in the vicinity of the road, flat, but in the distance on each side, hills. Cotton soil. The 3 first miles of road are over fields of cotton soil, which would be toilsome work in getting over during the monsoon. Supplies for 1 Corps, and ground to the E. of the village when the grain is off the ground, with water close at hand from a nullah, and from a large pukka built bowrie. 1 small river with sandy bottom about 2 miles before you reach Sillaiwance always passable.

100 houses. Water from wells and the Kang. Road good of hard red soil and a little stony. Black soil occasionally. Country undulating and covered with thin jungle. Ground South of village not very good. The bed of the Kirky very stony, banks easy.

1,000 houses. 30 shops. Water from wells and the Gunda river. Road good though rather stony most of the way and up a slight ascent—from Yeotie, good soil varying from black to red and stony. Some high ground is passed. Country open and waving. Ground N. of the place for a large force.

A small place situated on high ground on the North of an extensive lake which never fails of water. Ground somewhat distant and N. of the village, but that nearer on the high ground is broken and irregular. Road passes over several ascents and descents, but generally good of red soil and stony. There is another road to Yedlabad which avoids Hurtallah and is better for carts—the bund of the tank at Hurtallah never having been repaired since it burst. The ground at Yedlabad is very confined.

Contains 40 houses. Water from the Taptee river which runs E. of the place. The descent to the Poorna is difficult, ascent easy. Road over many hills stony, and soil black, but good from Yedlabad, the banks of the deep ravine are very steep and high and rather difficult for carriage. Ground insufficient for a regular Camp.

One of the largest and best built Cities in the Deccan, contains a handsome market place and a fine street called the Raj bazar. The neighbourhood is strewn with Mussulman tombs, &c. The city is inhabited by a distinct class of Mussulmans called Bohrah. The Taptee is only to be crossed at the Ghaut where it is easy. Ground confined near the Delhi gate. Road good but very narrow. Soil black. The nearest road through the city is from the Lindepoo-rah to the Delhi gate.

Mand or Maan	1	2	12	4	68	2	30 houses. 2 shops. 3 tanks. The Sorpun river close on the right. This, which is the direct road is very good. A few rough places here and there—it passes through a well cultivated and populous country. Troops should cross the Nerbudda by the ford below the Tahsildar's house, pass through the pretty village of Maharajpore and then cross the Bunjarah river. The ford of the Nerbudda in February is 2 feet deep.

The best way of travelling in this direction is by water. The point of embarkation is at the Basin close to the Mint. Boats towed or propelled by sails and poles, proceed thence up Cochrane's Canal to Sooloorpett, a place about 56 miles South of Nellore, and about 50 miles from Madras. The distance from the Basin to Ennore is about 10 miles, from Ennore to Pulicat about 20, and between Pulicat and Sooloorpett about 30 miles.

A Budgerow or Cabin Boat of the 1st size can go up from Madras to Sooloorpett, when Northerly winds prevail in about 24 hours; but when Southerly winds prevail in 18, sometimes less, according to the strength of the wind. The time occupied in going up to Ennore or Pulicat is proportionably less.

There are only 3 first size Budgerows or Cabin Boats, and 3 smaller ones which are let out on hire. Besides these however there are about 50 Top or Covered Boats used by Passengers to and from Pulicat, but they are generally kept at Pulicat. The large Northern Boats which are used in the transit of Goods of all description, are about 300 in number of various sizes ranging from 5 to 20 Tons burden; they are generally kept to the Northward or on the Sooloorpett Lake at the different places whence goods are embarked. These as well as the Pulicat Top Boats can be had at any time by giving a day's notice to the Boat owners or Boatmen present at the Basin at Madras. These large Northern Boats are sometimes used by Gentlemen for conveying their Palankeens, Baggage, &c.

A first size Budgerow or Cabin Boat is usually manned by a crew of 5 men, and can accommodate 4 Passengers comfortably with Baggage to the extent of 5 cavity boxes.

A second size or small Budgerow is manned generally by a crew of 3 or 4 men, according to the distance to which it is taken, and can accommodate 2 Passengers comfortably with Baggage to the extent of 2 cavity boxes.

A Pulicat Top Boat, thus called from its being covered with Tarpaulin, is invariably manned by a crew of 2 men and can accommodate 4 Passengers, with Baggage to the extent of 2 cavity Boxes. A Palankeen with the same quantity of Baggage and 6 Bearers can be easily accommodated in a Boat of this kind. These Boats being small and light are therefore good sailers and are in more general use. If an additional hand be employed they go much quicker than even a Budgerow.

A Northern Boat of the largest size which never has more than two men to manage it, can convey two Palankeens with the usual number of Bearers, besides a moderate quantity of Baggage. Ten cart loads of Goods without Passengers can be transported on one of these Boats.

A smaller sized Northern Boat can carry a Palankeen with its regulated number of Bearers and a small quantity of Baggage. Six cart loads of Goods (without passengers) can be carried on one of them. They have no covering whatever, but any temporary shed may be erected on them at the cost or pleasure of Passengers. They go at the same rate of speed as the Budgerow.

1st Size Budgerow with 5 Men,	to Sooleorpett,.....	Rs. 15 0 0

Do. do. do.	to Coromandel or Pulicat,.....	" 1 12 0
Do. do. do.	to Ennore,.....	" 1 4 0

If a Boat be retained for one full day, Batta at the rate of one Fanam or $1\frac{1}{4}$ Anna should be paid to each of the Boatmen. Should however Passengers wish to retain the Boats their own time at any of the above places, the following charges are made for each additional day including Batta for the men.

1st size Budgerow,	$3\frac{1}{4}$	Rupces per diem.
2d Do. do.	$2\frac{1}{4}$	do. do.
Northern Boat,	$1\frac{1}{4}$	do. do.

All of the Boats employed are the property of private Individuals, and it is left with Passengers previously to arrange with the Owners or the parties authorized to let Boats out, as to the sum to be charged for hire, or any extra convenience required. The rates of hire given above are those now generally agreed to.

During the hot season of the year when the Pulicat and Ennore Bars are closed, there is generally a deficiency of water in the Lakes as well as in the Canals, and there is sometimes a little delay in the transit of the Boats, particularly the larger sized ones, but at other seasons of the year there is no impediment whatever to their free passage.

For each Palankeen.....	$3\frac{1}{4}$ Annas.
Baggage.....	One Anna per Cooly load.

Parties applying for Boats should state the nature and quantity of Goods or number of persons to be carried.

It is understood that application has been made to the Court of Directors to extend the navigation to Doorgarazaputnam.

Officer Commanding Malabar and Canara—Cannanore—under Officer Commanding Mysore Division—Bangalore. Collector of Canara—Mangalore.	Sooratcul—b.....	1	6	10	6	10	6	Road tolerably good to the Bolar river distant about 2 miles 4 furlongs, passing through a large bazar on the banks of the Mangalore backwater. Soil partly laterite, partly sandy, 1 jungar and any number of small boats are procurable for the passage of the river—after passing, the road is very bad for 2½ miles, being over heavy sand close to the sea, at that distance it turns slightly inland, passing through a succession of huts about ½ a mile distant from the sea. Soil laterite and sand, cultivation paddy and coconut trees; encamping ground immediately below the bungalow in dry paddy ground, with sufficient room for 6 Companies. Tank water abundant, tolerably good and close to the encamping ground. Many miles of the country between the river and Sooratcul is flat and might be made available for encamping by clearing it from low jungle, but water is scarce. A town. Road for the first 5 miles very bad and heavy. Country barren and sandy after passing a river (for which 1 jungar and 4 double canoes are available), the road becomes good. Soil laterite. Country enclosed and cultivated. Encamping ground sufficient for only 2 Companies in dry paddy land well situated. Tank water good and abundant, no intermediate ground fit for encamping. Small village. A backwater lies close to the bungalow—a jungar and any number of large and small boats are procurable for its passage, the road after passing it, is most excellent the whole way to Caup. Soil laterite and hard red sand, it passes alternately through coconut tops and low jungle according as it approaches to or recedes from the sea—at a village about half way there is good ground for 1 Regiment. Soil laterite. Tank water good and abundant. Encamping ground excellent. Soil hard red sand, with sufficient room for 2 Regiments and a plentiful supply of water. A large place. Road good but generally narrow. Soil sandy, winding through paddy land, at about a mile from Caup there is a broad fordable nullah, depth of water about 3 feet. At about 2 miles from Woodapee a river is crossed, only 5 or 6 canoes (some very small) are procurable for its passage. Encamping ground close to the village, well situated but small—excellent water in profusion close at hand. Soil sandy. There is excellent ground for 3 Regiments about ¼ a mile from the village. Soil laterite gravel, but no water in the immediate neighbourhood of the ground. A large village. Road excellent, very broad and shaded for the most of the way by an avenue of splendid trees. Soil laterite gravel. Country hilly barren, with the exception of a few paddy fields. The river at Culliaspoorah is of great breadth and the means of crossing insufficient, only 1 jungar and 4 double canoes being procurable. Encamping ground excellent for 1 Regiment, situated near the village with excellent water in abundance close at hand. No intermediate ground is available for encamping as there is no water.

FROM CUMMUMET TO WURRUNGULL.—(Season July.)

Niz. Dom.—O. C. H. S. F.—Secunderabad. Resident at Hyderabad.	Siblair	22	0					A good road. Light red soil throughout. Country covered with wild babool thorn and brushwood. Passed across the river Marnair, a very deep and rapid stream from the rain that has lately fallen, distant about ½ mile from the town of Cumumet. Several large villages along the line of road, but cultivation somewhat limited. Good encamping ground. Water brackish, but plentiful. Supplies procurable. Forage very indifferent and difficult to get.

Resident at Baroda.		Jabboah			13	7	91	3	A town enclosed by a kutchra wall with circular bastions of masonry, situated on the E. of a ridge of hills, and surrounded by undulated and broken ground. S. of the town there is a fine lake and on its N. bank stands the fortified palace of the Jabboah Rajah. Supplies and water abundant. Country hilly and covered with jungle. Road a bad hackery track over high swells and deep hollows, intersected by numerous rocky and stony bedded nullahs. From Rujla pass the Bheel villages of Buggri, Burles and Bamun Semleah. Cross the Anas river and 16 nullahs.
		Kurawad..... Khersee..... Borwee..... Petoul..... Kalliah..... Kungallah.....
		Khutla			16	4	107	7	A small village. 3 bunniah. Water from the Kalli which is crossed at the end of the march. Road a very bad hackery track and little travelled, passing over a succession of high swells and deep hollows and intersected by many water-courses running to join the Anas and Mood rivers. Patches of cultivation round the Bheel villages, but the country is covered generally with stunted jungle of dhak and other trees. Cross the Mood or Moat and Kalli or Karlee rivers and 7 nullahs.
		Dewud or Dohud			9	0	116	7	A large town and respectable Fort. Supplies and water plentiful. Country open, undulated and partially cultivated. Soil a reddish sandy loam and full of stones in parts. Road a pretty good hackery track. Ground on the bank of a large tank $\frac{1}{2}$ a mile N. W. of Fort. Cross the Ka-an and Dewud nuddies.
		Leemree or Neemree ...			14	4	131	3	A large village and small bazar on right bank of the Massun river. Water plentiful. Country for the first 10 miles waving, and then raised into low ridges covered with thick brushwood, remainder open, undulated and partially cultivated. Road a tolerably good hackery track throughout. Cross 6 nullahs.
		Kudwal			7	0	138	3	A small village. 5 bunniah. Water from a nullah. Country undulated and covered with thin jungle of dhak and grass. Road tolerably good and passable by hackeries. Cotton soil in parts and sandy loam in others. A hackery road from Peitpoor and Jhallode joins here. Cross the Massun and 3 nullahs.
Officer Commanding Northern Division of the Bombay Army—Ahmedabad.		Leemda or Neemda			12	7	151	2	A hamlet. Supplies from Heerapoor a large village 2 miles N. Water from 1 baolee and 2 wells. At $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile ascend a low table-crowned ridge of hills that divides Malwa from Goozerat and at 2 miles descend it—from the foot of this descent the road for $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles winds through thick jungle between low hills, and is much infested by lawless Bheels. For the remainder of the distance the country is undulated with distant hills right and left, and covered with thick jungle of dhak, teak and other trees and bushes. Road much travelled by hackeries and in many places much cut up. Cross 3 nullahs.

Another more direct road and equally good passes near the burial ground and joins the main road $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile from Wurreil.
	Pavannah.....			12	0	19	0	Small village chiefly inhabited by Bheels. Ground W. of it. Water abundant from a nullah by digging and from wells. The cart road leads across the Moosum river close under Wurreil, and winding for about 3 miles along the right bank of the river, passing by the gate of the village of Wumeir and then across the Moosum which has a sandy bed. The river in the monsoon is deep and very rapid. In February there is but little water. The village of Carcoora is situated on a high bank opposite a range of hills close on the right for 2 or 3 miles, afterwards on both sides. After ascending a small Ghaut which is passable by carts, the table land continues, and the face of the country in advance puts on a more wild aspect, little or no cultivation, except near Pavannah.

E. by S., on a cotton field, good in dry weather, but confined—village close to left. Water from the river Wurdah. Supplies good, chiefly brought in from Ashty. Road good. At 1 or 2 places a little bad for carts, for 100 yards or so. No nullahs nor Ghauts, stream at Tunesah no obstacle. Wurdah river no obstacle, 2 feet deep, not broad, approach and banks very much broken, and with any rain must be difficult for carts. Country first close and hedged, then open with brushwood, intermixed with cultivation, then close and hedged again.

	Ashty	2	4	8	0	38	3	Encampment faces N. N. E. by N., on a black cotton soil. Village on right flank distant $\frac{1}{2}$ mile. Supplies and ground sufficient for 2 Regiments. Water in abundance from nullah, and also from wells in and around the village. Road from Bijnoor good, and most of it level between hedges, fencing cultivation. Country level, very much cultivated and enclosed.

	Sangwah	2	0	12	4	50	7	Encampment faces S. S. E., on a cholum field in the dry season, good and healthy. Water from a large stream close by. Supplies brought in from villages near, and partly from Amnair, and even Kamptee. Village of Sangwah about 3 miles on right flank a little to the front. Not good encamping ground, for more than 1 Regiment, nor supplies, unless after long notice. Road very stony the first half, and then leads directly over a low part of a small range of hills between Sangwah and this, forming a stony pass of about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile. Ascent and descent not steep, and road not very irregular, but stony—rest of the road level and good, mostly between hedges, fencing cultivation. Country on route, first rough, hilly stony, and only partially cultivated, then close cultivation, then hilly and stony again, the last half all closely cultivated. No intermediate encamping ground. A small stream half way, almost dry in December.

	Juddulkairah	6	2	8	7	59	6	Encampment faces E. on a good dry soil, but intersected by a deep dry, nullah, which prevents regularity in the lines of the camp. In the dry season pretty well adapted for encamping on. Abundant supplies from village close to rear. Water from river Jambah, sufficient for 2 or 3 Regiments. Road good and level the whole way. Amnair is on the little river Jaum or Jaumbah, a tributary of the Wurdah, rocky and a little difficult for carts, even in the dry season. Country closely cultivated the whole way. Amnair is the name of the Kusbah or district.

Ground healthy and good. Water from the river Jam close to the right flank, sufficient for 3 or 4 Regiments. Supplies from town, which is to the rear and right flank, excellent and abundant for 2 Regiments. Road excellent and where the country is stony, is cleared. Country cultivated and enclosed, with 1 or 2 intervals of bare stony soil over some rises and declivities. Pandoornah is a very large place with a detachment of Nagpore Irregular Horse on the river Leindee. There is another route from Narkair thither to the left or W. of that noted, called the Goozrkhair route a mile shorter, but having a stony pass commencing at the little village of Goozrkhair, which makes it an ineligible route for carts, and it has no intermediate ground.

* From Soanwarpettah to Banasamoodrum there are two other ways, viz.: by Mungalum 7.0; Yellandoor 6.6; Kolaiyul 10.4; Dandendodu 12.0; Banasamoodrum 10.0—Total 46.2—and by Mungalum (a mile to the right) 6.3; Mogoor 10.0; Secilly 8.4; Manawully 15.5; Banasamoodrum 8.5—Total 49.1. But the way by Talcaud is infinitely better than these two in every way—the country is much higher, and a very little trouble would make it an excellent road. A few ravines would impede the passage of guns if the aid of a party of Pioneers be not available.

* There is communication the whole way between Quilon and Chaitwa by backwater; and though Pattimars and Dhoniss are not always to be had at Quilon in sufficient numbers for the transport of a Regiment thither, they are usually procurable from Cochin. Nearly the entire distance by land is very difficult for the march of Troops with wheeled carriages, there being in fact no proper road at all; and when means of water transport and season admit, the latter is much to be preferred.

By sea, it takes a Pattimar 5 or 6 days to arrive at Cannanore from Quilon; and as the whole Sea Coast is much intercepted by rivers, and backwaters, and land carriage is very difficult to obtain—the sea route is better than all.

* This road is considered unhealthy for the march of European Troops between June and the middle of December, on account of fever in the Nirmul jungle. During this period therefore this road should not be used, except on emergency. If a later date than the 15th December be desired for their departure from Secunderabad en route to Kamptee or vice versa, such a date should not be fixed on, as would make their arrival at either place, happen later than the end of March, on account of the hot weather. Excepting during the actual prevalence of the monsoon and a short while after, the road by Nandair is always available.

Water from bowries and a tank a mile off. Country thickly populated. Road very good of hard soil. Ground high, good and open, sufficient for 2 Corps N. W. of village. Water from tank close by. A large place. Road very bad. Country partly cultivated, rocky and barren. 20 houses. 2 bowries. Water good all the year. Ground high, dry and extensive. Red soil. Ground high, dry and extensive. Water good. 200 houses. 50 bowries. 5 shops. Red soil. 150 houses. 10 bowries. 4 shops. Ground confined but high. Soil red nearly all the way. Road passes over a Ghaut called Pandee Awollah Bunda, almost impassable for horses and of course entirely so for bandies, which latter should be sent round with a working party of men and lascars. There is encamping ground for 1 Regiment to the S. of and close to the village, but on cultivated ground, and much cramped by thick jungle to the S. Water plentiful from bowries and tanks. The soil on leaving Veerunnappettah changes to rock and hard sand; and the track is through a dense jungle of underwood interspersed with Tamarind and Banian trees. Road hard and sandy but intersected by small nullahs, which however in the hot season would offer no obstacle to the passage of bandies. The encamping ground is to the W. of the town, on very high and hard ground, room for any number of Troops, and good water procurable from bowries and 2 tanks sufficient in this season for a large force. The town is very large, the principal one in the Jagheer (which belongs to the minister of the Nizam's Government) and supplies are procurable to any amount. The country between this and the last stage is generally high, covered with low jungle, tanks scattered here and there and at intervals there are patches of wet cultivation.

Nizam's Domains—Officer Commanding Hyderabad Subsidiary Force—Secunderabad. Resident at Hyderabad.	Muddoor	2	0	14	0	87	4	Road hard and sandy through low jungle and intersected by nullahs. Bandies are obliged again to make a detour in order to reach the place of encampment. Ground is high and dry S. E. of the town and sufficient for 2 Regiments. Supplies are scanty. 		Mahonia	0	7½	9	1	416	1	60 houses. 1 well. 1 small tank. 4 topea. Road generally very good, except between Sohars and Bhoreebun, where there is an ascent of 200 yards long at present (1852) impracticable for carts or even laden cattle, but it would be easily made so for the former. Country where not hilly is well cultivated. Soil red.

		Cross two nullahs to Soorakah.....	5	1	11	4	427	5	19 houses. Room for a camp. Water in nullah. Supplies from Mahlah or Bhoreebun. The road on the whole not so good as before. It is stony and rough in places and the Ghaut requires clearing for the easy passage of carts. Soil red and stony.
		Cross two nullahs to Deotarah.....	3	1
		Mangurh.....	3	5
		Cross the Sone River twice to Mahlah.....	1	6	8	4	436	1	On the banks of the Sone river 40 houses. 3 bunnahs. Small tope near village and fine Mhowa trees on banks of river, plenty of room for a Camp. The river is 80 or 100 yards wide and very deep. Ford from Mangurh passable though rocky. The descent of the Deotarah Ghaut is easy as to slope, but it requires to be made practicable for carts which would be done at a trifling cost, with some trouble carts might even now travel by this Ghaut.

	Jugdulpodr			11	0	176	4½	The chief place of the Bustar country, having a Fort and several tanks around. The Indrawutty river flows past it in a S. W. direction into the Godavery, its bed is full of rocks, and unfordable at any season. It affords facilities for floating teak timber, which here abounds, into the Godavery, and thence to Coringa. In the rainy season the river overflows its banks, and forms an extensive lake on every side. Road from Nuggernaui through a marsh the whole way. N. B.—The information, (so far as Wyragurh), whence this Route is compiled, is very old and scanty, and it does not appear that there are any serious impediments in the proper season to the march of Troops this way, so far as the nature of the road or features of the country are concerned. The whole of the villages beyond Bustar are composed of straw huts, and supplies would be probably difficult to procure. Brinjarica, (by whom the road is much frequented,) describe it as a good travelling road, and cultivated occasionally.

BY LINGOOGOORAM AND ARLAPULLY—(Season June.)

Niz. Dom. O. Com. Hydr. Sub. Force—Secunderabad.	Resident at Hyderabad.	Timminapett			28	0	28	0	Light sandy and red soil, the country rocky and very wild in appearance, the path way covered with fragments of stone and chillatee thorn. Jungle on each side. Cultivation limited to the immediate vicinity of the villages passed, which are poor, wretched in the extreme, and scarcely numbering half a dozen huts. Encamping ground very much confined, owing to the enclosures about the village. Water very indifferent and procured from a nullah, which had been dry till within a few days of the arrival of the Detachment. A limited supply of coarse rice, Koottee Moong, clarified butter of Goats' milk, and Fowls procurable here. Forage of no description to be had.

Military. Political or Civil. Nizam's Dominions—Officer Commanding Hyderabad Subsidiary Force—Secunderabad. Resident at Hyderabad.	Pogulapully			30	0	58	0	Country somewhat more open, light red soil and traces of former cultivation for the first 10 miles. Pass along the bund of a very large tank and near a tope of Mango trees about a mile from which the country assumes a wild aspect and the jungle thickens. Cross a wide and deep nullah about 4 miles from this and another 2 miles beyond it. Cultivation to some extent round it, after which the jungle becomes very dense for about 2 miles. Wild and Pea Fowl heard on all sides, on issuing from it ascended a steep rugged rock, the surface strewn with fragments of stone and large pebbles, rendering it very difficult and dangerous for a horseman, as a false step would precipitate horse and rider down a steep ravine along the edge of which the path led, the descent on the opposite side also rugged and difficult, passed along the side of the Yondum tank and had a fine view of the Pakhal Lake which we afterwards passed close to and then ascended another difficult Ghaat covered with loose fragments of stone; the path then wound round the base of 2 hills covered with thick jungle, descent easy, struck off to the left. Country more open. Good encamping ground after clearing away the brushwood. 4 huts formed the village. No supplies procurable. Water scarce drinkable.
	Lingogooram			30	0	88	0	A very dense jungle for some 10 or 12 miles, very difficult to thread your way through the maze of trees, especially on horseback, a narrow track alone to guide one, the Baigaries lost their way three times—on issuing from this jungle entered another almost as thick, of bamboos. Crossed a serpentine nullah 4 times this march, the country very hilly and picturesque with deep ravines on either side of the path, the country then becomes gradually more open and is very pretty and undulating near the village. Good encamping ground. Water scarce and indifferent. Some Fowls, coarse Rice, clarified butter of Goats' milk brought in from Goondalah. Forage abundant. Soil black, heavy and loamy.
	Tomonpaka
	Arlapully			26	0	114	0	Passed over a great deal of broken ground dangerous for horses, intercepted by small nullahs and water-courses, black soil for at least 6 or 7 miles and light jungle chiefly of the wild Babool—after passing the village of Tomonpaka, the jungle becomes thick and dense. Crossed a small river and 3 nullahs during this march. Jungle lessened as we approached the village. Good encamping ground but somewhat confined owing to the enclosures round the cultivation about the village, which consisted of 14 huts. Water scarce and very indifferent. Fowls, coarse Rice, Moong (a description of Vetch) clarified butter of Goats' milk, together with forage procurable in small quantities. Soil light sandy colour.
	Bangarchulka
	Goolagooram			30	0	144	0	Proceeded about 5 miles through a light jungle. Black soil on approaching the village of Bangarchulka. Crossed 3 nullahs, one of them somewhat deep and rapid from the rain that fell yesterday. Jungle increasing and in some parts so thick that the guides could scarcely keep the track in view, obliged frequently to dismount because of boughs confining the path in such a

The Chillatee thorn so thickly interspersed in the jungle as to make it not only difficult but painful work to force your way through it: continued so for some miles, when crossing a nullah, we came upon the village. No supplies excepting forage for the Cattle procurable here, and of that only a very limited quantity. Water plentiful from the rain that had lately fallen, but very thick and muddy. Country somewhat more open for the first mile or so, after which the jungle gradually increased—Pea and Wild Fowl heard in all directions and herds of Deer passed close to the Detachment. Crossed a dry nullah, when the jungle became extremely dense, almost impracticable for a horseman. The Babool and Chillatee thorn thickly interspersed with other trees rendering it very painful work to proceed on especially as in avoiding a thorn, you come in unpleasant collision with a branch or vice versa. When about 8 miles from the river you cross a nullah, after which the jungle lessens and for 4 or 5 miles from Bhadrachellum the country is open and as you approach the banks of the Godavery, highly cultivated. Crossed over to Bhadrachellum, the water at the ford up to the men's waist. Good encamping ground on the left bank of the river but somewhat confined. Excellent water and plentiful. A limited supply of coarse Rice, Gram, Dhali, Moong, Fowls, &c. together with forage procurable. Soil on the right bank, black and loamy, on the left bank, light and red.

Military. Political or Civil.	Saongee	2	3	8	0	25	5	A middling sized village on the right bank of a small river. Road tolerably good to within a short distance of the river when several ravines are crossed. The descent into the river is extremely steep. The road where it runs along the foot of the right bank is impracticable for guns, this bank may easily be cut away immediately opposite to the passage, so that the road below the bank may be avoided. For 1½ mile from the river, the road is bad and stony, thence it is generally good. River commonly fordable early in November. Country generally open and partially cultivated.

Chota Cheppanair Ghat.....	2	..	Fordable in March. There is 3 feet of water at the ford, and it is 500 yards wide. In May, it is only 18 inches water at the ford. The banks are sloping. The bed sandy for 1½ mile west, then rocky to Seechora.
Seechora Ghat, or Lacheny Ghat.....	5	4	Fordable, end of January. There is a road south from hence to Hurda, Pimboorna, Kotra and Sewale.
Jellodah.....	2	4	Fordable in January. There is a Ghat above and one below the vil- lage. The bed of the river is rocky: the banks steep. There are roads from hence S. to Kotra, Hurda, Charwa, &c. and N. to Sat- wace, Neemawur, &c.
Ghoad Ghat.....	1	6	Fordable by the end of December, or beginning of January. The bed of the river is here sandy, and banks steep. In February, there was 2 feet of water at the ford, and it was 3 or 40 yards across.

		M.	F.
Choar Ghaut.....	..	6	Fordable in February. This is but a small Ghaut, and only used by thieves, being both difficult and out of the way.
Sourgannah Ghaut.....	..	6	Fordable in February. The banks of the river are shelvings. The bed sandy, and there are several small islands formed in the river here.
Boglatce or Buglatair, or Mar- noorpoora Ghauts.....	1	2	This Ghaut is fordable as early as the middle of October. The south bank is steep, and the bed sandy. The Ghaut was formerly much frequented by the Pindaries. The jungle is very thick now near this Ghaut, and the road confined. There are roads from hence S. the same as from Jellowdah, and N. to Ecklara and Sundulpoor, which latter place is 14 or 15 miles off.
Byree Ghaut.....	2	..	Fordable by the end of December or beginning of January, and is a gun road. The bed of the river is sandy, and the water runs in many channels, and is from one to two and a half feet deep in March. The same roads are common to this and the Buglatair Ghaut. West to Hindia the bed of the river is rocky, and is fordable, till the river rises, for men on foot; but they are not much frequented, being rather difficult, except by thieves.
Kella Ghaut, or Hindia.....	3	2	This Ghaut is a little above the town, and is fordable in March, then containing 3 feet of water, and decreasing to 2 about the end of May. The banks are steep, and the bed rocky, except at the ford, which is sandy for 30 yards. Hindia was once a place of considerable size and there were roads from it to most of the principal places N. and S. of the Nerbuddah for several hundred miles.
Mussund Ghaut.....	..	4	Fordable in April, having then 4 feet of water, which decreases towards May but little. The bed of the river is rocky, and the banks steep.
Bugwaar Ghaut, or Pespre Ghaut	1	6	Fordable towards the end of March. The bed of the river is sandy, with some rocks. There are some small islands near, where the fishermen reside during the season.
Pespre Ghaut, No. 2.....	2	5	Fordable in March, and the bed rocky. The islands are here very close together; the water between, though deep, is but narrow in the channels. It was consequently frequented by the Pindaries.
Singoonal Ghaut.....	1	..	At the junction of the Megdah river with the Nerbuddah. The position is naturally very strong, and the Ghaut is fordable towards the end of February or beginning of March. There are islands in the bed of the river, which is rocky, though less so than higher up or lower down.
Ghurbbirah Ghaut.....	1	4	Fordable about the end of February or beginning of March. The bed is rocky, and the banks in general steep.
Peeplee Ghaut, or Bunpona.....	1	..	This Ghaut is similar to the last in every respect.
Salakheira.....	2	4	The road from hence runs S. to Mendgaum, distance 7 m. The river runs circuitously to that place. There is no road by the banks nearer, so that its course is not here exactly known; it may be 12 miles by the river.
Mendgaum Ghaut.....	7	..	This Ghaut is near the Singam of a large river with the Nerbuddah, supposed to be the Matchuck.
Ghurry Ghaut.....	1	4	This and the former were not much frequented formerly by Pindaries; the bed of the river being rocky and broad, with several islands. The banks are shelving. The water in February 2 feet deep only, but it is no gun road. There is a direct road from this to Hurda.
Poonghaut.....	3	2	Fordable towards the end of April. The bed of the river is wide and rocky, and banks steep.
Pantkhairce Ghaut.....	2	6	Fordable in February. In March only 1½ foot deep. The jungle here is thick, and there are large forest trees also in it.
Burkaisur or Buldie Ghaut.....	6	..	Fordable in January, and a gun road in February. The bed of the river is rocky in many parts. The banks are steep, and the river is narrower here than either higher up or lower down. There is a road to Satwas, from hence 10 coss, via Kurraah. The country is covered with jungle.
Fullamee Ghaut.....	15	..	Ford bad.
Duarce.....	16	..
Cumlee Ghaut.....	5	4	These Ghauts are deep, with loose stones, but fordable for about 2 months in the year.
Rampoor Ghaut.....	1	4	These Ghauts are bad, with large loose round stones, and a strong stream of water; and are only tonable for three months.
Mundatta Ghaut.....	10	..	These Ghauts are bad, being over a bed of large loose round stones, and the stream very strong; and are not fordable for more than 3½ months.
Bucksee Ghaut.....	3	..
Kurpurra Ghaut.....	3	4
Havair Ghaut.....	12	..	The ford at this Ghaut is good, but with a strong stream of water; and is fordable for about 5 months in the year.
Munkerkir on the S. bank of the Nerbuddah, opposite Mundleyair	16	..	A good Ghaut, but rather stony. Becomes fordable about the middle of December.
Nowla Towlee, opposite Mheysir..	6	4	The Nerbuddah is never fordable at Mheysir, but good boats are always to be had. Mheysir is very extensive, with well supplied basars.

In continuing a westerly course along the S. bank of the Nerbuddah for 14 miles 6 furlongs to Cheekly, the following ghauts are met with, viz. Jumalapoore, for foot passengers only, fordable in February; Bulgaum, for foot passengers also, only practicable for 2 months in the year; Akberpoore, a very fine ford, from near the confluence of the Santock river. This was formerly called the Raj ghaut, and the great road from the city of Mandoo to the southward.

From Cheekly to Nulway, W. is 15 miles 2 furlongs. In this space there are the foot ghauts of Adulpoorah and Bhuria, fordable in January. One from the confluence of the Bhorar river to the village of Hutnewah, fordable in December; practicable for carriages, but stony. The Amlekar ghaut is passable for carriages in January; but the bed of the Nerbuddah here is rocky, the banks high, and much intersected by ravines.

From Nulway to the Saszar river, 15 miles 2 furlongs. At Keersapoore the river becomes fordable in February, but only for foot passengers. The bed rocky, and water deep. At Moheepoorah carriages can cross as early as November: the bed sandy, and water shallow. The ghauts from Golatter to Peerkur, and from Baroda to Saimalda may be crossed by men and horses in February. Near Saigaum the river is passable in November for carriages, though not a good ford; at Rowtee in December, but for men and horses only.

From the Saszar river to Bhotee, 15 miles 6 furlongs.

In this interval the river is fordable at Peeplooda for men and horses only, in November. Bed rocky. The Kassarood ghaut may be passed by carriages in December, but is rather an indifferent ford. At Kairee and Cokra the river may be forded by men in January; but it is deep, and the bed rocky. At Bheelkeira carriages can cross in December. At Nangaum there is a ford for men and horses in December. At Pitchoree the bed is sandy, mixed with small stones, and carriages can pass in December. Near Ketorah and the hill of Jaungawah, there are fords for men and horses; the former passable in February, and the latter in December.

Within the next 7 miles West are found the Gowliater ghaut, passable for carriages in December; but the bed of the river rocky, and descent to it bad. The Chowliater ghaut, fordable in February: carriages pass, but with difficulty. From hence to the Hura Pall, or Deer's Leap, the stream becomes narrower, the banks high and perpendicular, and the islands so numerous that the course of the river can hardly be traced. From this place to about 20 miles E. of Tulloekwarra, little is known of the Nerbuddah, from its numerous and dangerous rapids, and the impracticable nature of the country on both sides, where it enters the broken edges of the Santpoorah range; but this is less to be regretted, in a military point of view, from the wild and rugged nature of the thinly populated country, and the little probability of any attempts to cross the Nerbuddah in that part of its course. At Hamp there is a small passage boat, and the Bhimpary and Uktesair ghauts are crossed E. of the Tulloekwarra ghaut. Between that place and Broach, the following ghauts are met with, viz. the Fotreeda, Bawa Piers, (commonly called Bowpier,) Ummalee, Kundalee, Chanzodde, Kunnaulee, Nurrendah, and Thoomdee. The Bowpier ghaut is that generally crossed by troops, (when not ordered via Broach,) and is very good as early as November, about 2½ feet deep, with a favourable bottom.

The influence of the tide is felt as high up as Kannapoore, about 25 miles above Broach, where it rises a few inches.

From Cuttack to Chowrasseepoor the computed distance is about 58 coss. In the rains when the river is at its utmost height, boats proceeding up the river are obliged to keep close to either the right or left bank in order to avoid the most rapid part of the current, against which they are not able to stem. The banks for the whole of the way being thickly covered with trees and bushes, which are to be met with in many places spreading themselves for a considerable distance into the bed of the river, makes the navigation very tedious. Towing being impracticable, the method of getting forward is, by the use of Poles twenty feet long, on one end of which is a Prong, and on the other a Crook by which boats are shoved up against the stream.

When the rains are over and the river fallen, the navigation is easy and expeditious;—the stream taking its course for almost the whole of the way between sand beds, and the boatmen are enabled to tow. The depth of water seldom exceeds six feet, but in general is much less.

After the Month of February and during the hot weather the river is only navigable for very small boats.

From Chowrasseepoor to Sumbulpore the navigation of the river becomes very difficult, the bed of the river being for the most part composed of rocks, numbers of which are seen linked together for three or four hundred yards and rising eight, ten and twelve feet above the water. A number of Islands are also to be met with; their banks covered with rocks and are mostly uninhabited. The largest are Maogothootur near Boud—Poorer Ghaut and Pathkie. The river is also much incumbered with Trees and underwood, which in many places entirely cover the face of the river from bank to bank. As the stream is here divided by the rocks into many Channels, and proceeds with great rapidity, mostly over rocks under water, the progress of the boats is very slow: however when two or three boats are together, all hands assist in getting over the most difficult passes, and should they have been provided with a good thick rope about fifty fathoms in length it will be found very serviceable in getting round the rocks and other impediments, so that little or no danger need be apprehended. The navigation of the river for this distance is at all seasons of the year difficult.

From Sumbulpore to Puddumpore is about fourteen coss by water. The appearance of the river is much the same as from Chowrasseepoor, but as the navigation passing the Island of Heerachoor (3 coss above Sumbulpore) is particularly difficult, the following description of it will be useful.

At about half a coss from the village of Kirwah commences the Island of Heerah Cood, computed to be one and a half coss in length, one and a half furlong in width, and about one furlong from the left bank of the river. The boats quitting the left bank of the river proceed along the left of the Island and as near the left bank as rocks admit of. The width of the river from the Island to the right bank is about four furlongs, its bed consisting entirely of rocks, the greater part appearing above water, some of them connected for two or three hundred yards together; others with sand and earth banks between them, and those nearest the banks covered with trees and underwood. The boats in getting by those rocks, find the greatest difficulties at the four following Passes. To enable them to get through these with greater safety application should be made to the people of the Island for assistance.

1st.—At about a quarter of a coss up the side of the Island is a large heap of rocks called Tumtitter, which is within 50 yards of the Island, the bank of the Island is also covered with rocks both sides, forming a chain of rocks for upwards of three hundred yards. Between these rocks the current passes down a gradual descent of about four feet, this Pass is called Dooseeetum, is of considerable depth, but varying in consequence of the rocks under water. The manner adopted in getting the boats over this as well as the following difficulties is by the assistance of ropes made fast to the head and stern of the boats, the other ends given to men placed on the rocks, who hold on while those in the boat shove or rather force it forward with their poles, this may be done without difficulty, or much delay, but not without the bottom of the boats frequently striking forcibly against the rocks under water.

2d.—A small distance above Dooseeetum is another channel to get through composed in like manner, not so long but much narrower, its narrowness and rapidity of current causing its difficulty.

3d.—Boggenbeesum, here the boats surmount an ascent of about four feet, over rocks and against a rapid current. 4th.—Jaun Jellon forms a winding channel of rocks for the stream with two falls and a depth of water near each fall of twelve feet. It takes from 6 o'clock in the morning until 2 in the afternoon to be clear of this channel.

From Puddumpore to Loor Narrain the distance is computed to be twenty-six coss. The river for the whole of this way is perfectly free of impediments, and continues navigable until January, when the river becomes too low to admit of large boats proceeding on it.
